DISPLAY CONFIDENCE AROUND WOMEN

Building Confidence around Women - Tips to Become More Appealing to Women

There are just some guys who are effortless when it comes to attracting beautiful women and if you are not one of these lucky guys who seem to be women magnets, you don't have to lose hope as there are actually techni q ues that you can use to develop your appeal and your attractiveness and your confidence around women. Read on to find some ideas that you may find useful.

Be presentable and well-groomed - Although you don't need to be a very neat and perfectly cleaned man, at least showing women that you are clean with your body is a good thing to start with. If you are conscious of your body, do not also make it appear to the woman that you are so engrossed with how you look that you may even sound like you are too obsessed with your body.

Learn techni q ues to help you deal with your anxieties and fears—One of the things that can ruin a man' confidence around women is their fear that they may get rejected. Rejection is common and almost all people may have experienced rejection once in their lives, so do not make it a hindrance in your aim to approach women and get to know women you want to date with. Although it is sometimes difficult to face your fears, you can also find some techni q ues like positive affirmation or hypnosis to help you condition your mind to overcome fear and anxiety.

Learn how to compliment, but compliment naturally- Women love to be complimented and this is one skill that you need to master if you want to be attractive to women or you want to develop that appeal to them. Of course, people love to go with people who make them feel good. Keep in mind however that giving compliments also need some finesse. You can't just be with a woman and just keeps on complimenting her insincerely. You have to learn to compliment her in ways that she has not heard before.

Make them laugh—One of the things that can help you develop appeal to women is to cultivate your sense of humor and make them laugh. Women love men who can pull off a good joke or those who are the life of the party. Like complimenting, pulling off a good joke when around beautiful women needs to be mastered as well.

Be independent and show that you can manage your life. To build confidence around women, it is important that you have to Overcome negative thoughts—Another factor that can help you build confidence around women is to conquer your negative thoughts. The fear of rejection, the anxieties and other negative things that have hindered you to be confident around women springs out from the negative thoughts that are deep rooted in your mind. Getting these negative thoughts off your mind can be one of the best ways to help you make these things easy as well.

Attract Women - 3 Little Known Ways to Develop Confidence around Women

Any man wants to be successful with women and in order to achieve this; you have to develop confidence around women. Men have the reputation of being brave on almost anything but unfortunately, not all men have the courage when it comes to women. There are brave men who are shy in front of women.

Ever wondered why men who are not rich and with average looks attract women like magnet? It is because of their confidence. Confidence is one of the qualities that women are looking for in a man, so a confident man is an attractive man. If you want to get noticed by the woman of your dreams, you have to develop confidence around women.

Here are the 3 little known ways on how to gain confidence with women:

Have a positive mindset—Being so negative is not helpful if you want to achieve success with women. Failure is a part of life and it can happen even in dating women, but you will be surprised how a positive attitude can make a difference on your personality. To develop confidence around women, have a positive attitude. Focus on the best qualities you have and always remind yourself that you have great qualities that women will find adorable.

Do not get intimidated by her physical appearance—Most men get intimidated in front of a beautiful woman. It is easier to develop confidence around women if you will not just focus on her looks. Always remind yourself that like you, she is also a human being. Although she looks physically perfect, like anybody else she is not perfect and she also has her flaws. This way you will not be threatened by her looks, you can calm down and can face her with confidence.

Practice—Of course you need to practice if you want to develop confidence around women. Confidence with women is a skill that not all men have and if you want to master it then you have to practice. Grab every opportunity to interact with women to overcome your shyness and you will eventually get at ease around women. Going out or a friendly date with different women is also a good way to overcome your fears.

It is not impossible to develop confidence around women. You have to continuously learn on how to achieve success with women to get the relationship you've always wanted.

Tips in Building Self-Confidence Around Women

Is the lack of confidence around women holding you back in pursuing the woman of your dreams? You are not alone because many men have this problem. They get tense, anxious and feel insecure in front of the woman they adore. If this keeps on happening to you, you won't be able to act the way you want and you will appear unattractive to most women. Confidence is a trait that women admire most and building self-confidence around women is necessary if you want to succeed in dating women.

How to build self-confidence around women

Know that most people lack self-confidence—Your lack of confidence shouldn't be an excuse for not approaching the woman you like. You have to know that it is normal for people to feel unsure, uncomfortable or shy in front of another person especially if this person is someone you like so you do not have to feel less of a person for feeling less confident. Who knows, the person that you are afraid to approach might be as shy as you are. In building self-confidence around women you have to muster your courage and con q uer your fears.

Dress like a confident man—In everything we do we have to set the mood to be able to feel it and get in action. We get into the mood of sleeping if we are in our sleeping clothes, we wear school uniforms or working clothes to get into the mood of going to school or working. It is the same in building confidence around women, you have to wear a confident persona to get into the mood and one way of accomplishing that is to dress well and appear confident. Wear something stylish and classy but be sure you are comfortable and confident pulling that off. Groom yourself from head to toe. Put attention to your hairstyle and even to your shoes. Trim your facial hair including the hair in your nose and cut your fingernails to appear clean and fresh. Remember that grooming yourself doesn't mean you have to spend a fortune. There are ways to look great on a budget.

Believe in yourselfLack of confidence stems from not believing in yourself and in building confidence around women, you have to change your mindset. The way we think affects our behavior. If you do not believe in yourself, it shows in your action. If you will start to believe more in yourself, you will start to act more confident. This is easily said than done but you have to start changing your mindset if you want to build self-confidence around women. If you will start now and will keep on doing it, you will eventually become better and will naturally act confident around women. Believe that you are interesting and likeable and it will show in your actions. Once you start believing in yourself, women will find you more interesting and attractive.

Accept that rejection is a normal part of life- Fear of rejection is the major factor contributing to the lack of confidence of most men. They do not want to be rejected so they just stay away and failed to muster the confidence to approach the women they find attractive. Accept that rejection is a normal part of life and dating or approaching women is not an exception. Almost everybody is rejected but those who succeeded are those who refused to give up. In building confidence around women, you have to change your outlook about rejection. Think that in every rejection, you get one step closer to meeting "the one" for you.

Practice Repeatedly - Self-consciousness around women can prevent you from acting confident around them but if you will expose yourself to socialize more with women, this self-consciousness will be reduced if not eliminated. You probably already know the common saying that constant practice makes it perfect and you probably have done that on some of the things that you want to learn in school or at work. In building confidence around women, you also have to practice constantly to get the hang of it and to become more confident. Practice being around women more and socialize with them more. Practice having conversations with your women friends so that when the time comes that you have to face the woman you are attracted to, you will not be too overwhelmed.

Once you've learned to be confident around women or in front of people in general, it will bring positive changes in your life especially in your social or dating life.

MAKE THEM LAUGH

If You Can Make Her Laugh, She is All Yours

Make her wild about you

One of the best things a man can do to get a woman's attention is to make her laugh. When you ask a woman what she looks for in a man one of the first things that come out of her mouth is that the guy should have a sense of humor. So it's no surprise that one of the very best seduction techni q ues you can use to attract women is laughter.

I must admit, at first, I didn't realize how true this was. I just thought sense of humor was what all women responded with when asked, "What do you look for in a guy?" As I studied the best ways to seduce women over the years, however, I found laughter to be one the best ways to get into a woman's pants.

Step your game up

How many times are you going to tell her that you own an S-class Mercedes Benz? Are you really going to keep telling her that you earn a six-figure salary? If that's your way of seducing women then you are in big trouble. You are only going to attract gold diggers this way. Working on your sense of humor is a much better way to seduce women than trying to impress her with materialistic things. Women know what you have; you don't have to throw it in their faces all the time. On the other hand, when you can make a woman laugh, you are stimulating her mind and turning her on by the second.

In fact, I have used laughter to seduce gorgeous, young women many times without fail. They always end up calling me and telling me that they would love nothing more than to "hang out" because they enjoy my company. So please, close your wallets and open your eyes... the key to a women's heart is through laughter.

You must work on your sense of humor

Luckily, I'm a guy who has a natural high sense of humor. And women are helplessly drawn to me because of it. I have a fantastic sex life simply because I have the ability to make women laugh and have a good time. And at the end of the day, that is all a woman wants: a guy that can make her feel good. If you can make her feel liberated and forget about the stress that she might have by making her laugh, you are well on your into her pants.

Nevertheless, what if you are not so lucky? What if you aren't naturally funny? What if you have absolutely no sense of humor? Do you consider yourself a boring individual? Don't worry. I have a solution. You should practice your sense of humor by first being opportunistic. What do I mean by this? I am merely suggesting that you strike when the moment presents it self--no need to force jokes. When you see something that you find a bit odd, for example, why not use a little bit of sarcasm? Say, for instance, you see a grossly overweight man in Burger King ordering everything on the menu, you can say to your date "I can see his diet is going extremely well." Now I am not one to bash people in public, but if you say something like this low enough so that only she hears you, she will have a great laugh out of it.

Nobody said you have to become Richard Pryor or Jim Carey to be considered funny. All you need is a little sense of humor and that can be the difference between a girl saying, "I guess I'll see you around" and "Hey, want to come inside for a drink, Hun?" at the end of a date... if you know what I mean.

Girls can't get enough

In order to be recognized as funny you need to be consistently hilarious. As you practice and work on your sense of humor it will quickly become second nature. One thing you will realize is that being funny is all about timing. You have to know what to say and when to say, or it wont be funny at all.

You should also take note that what is funny to one woman may not be funny to another. So do not feel discouraged if she doesn't find your jokes that funny. Just keep working at it.

Something else you should beware of is aiming your jokes at the woman who you are trying to seduce. Girls are really sensitive and self-conscious about their looks; if you tease women in the attempt to make them laugh, they may feel offended by your joke. Yes, some women will laugh it off; but I found that most women don't like being teased. I think this is because most women subconsciously have low self-esteem. She loves when you make her laugh... just don't do it at her expense.

How to Use Humor to Attract Women

Women love fun, and men with a sense of humor come across to them as charming and socially intelligent. And although a man may not always be physically attractive, having a sense of humor gives a huge boost of attractiveness in a woman's perception of his overall image.

In conversation, most guys end up boring women. They don't know how to carry a conversation with a woman, or talk in a way that attracts her. Women are turned off by guys who are boring, so you need to know how to keep the conversation fun. A woman you're talking to will quickly lose interest if you do nothing but pepper her with "interview-style" questions, or if you talk to her about mundane topics like the weather.

In addition, women are social creatures. They are sensitive to something called Social Intelligence, which has to do with an awareness of what is socially acceptable or not. A socially inept man can easily display his lack of social intelligence by making an inappropriate comment, telling jokes that no one finds funny, or missing the "cues" she is sending. Needless to say, an obvious lack of social intelligence quickly kills a woman's attraction toward you and gets you quickly dismissed. So then, what kind of humor should you bring to a conversation with a woman?

Women expect a man to lead a conversation, and to do so in a fun, sexy and flirty way. They want you to be able to make them laugh, enjoy themselves and feel physically safe and emotionally secure around you. A sense of humor livens up the mood and also makes everyone around you more at ease. You can eliminate a huge amount of resistance in a woman, if there ever was any, and instead make her a lot more receptive to you.

Therefore, that's the key to talking to women: Do so in a kind of fun, playful, flirtatious and sexy way. Have a conversation with her in a way that makes her feel so much fun and enjoyment around you. Bring out her playful side. And since women are attracted to topics that bring out an emotional response in them, inject emotional words into your conversation when describing something. Don't just say something was fun; instead say, "my heart was beating with excitement."

There are a few other things to watch out for when engaging in conversation with a woman:

Remember to be Fun, not Funny. Women will be attracted to you when you allow them to have fun, instead of you trying to be funny. Don't concentrate on having the funniest jokes. Concentrate instead on showing them the most enjoyment, fun and excitement.

If ever you crack a joke, make it tasteful and light, and pay special attention not to say anything which may offend. Avoid comments like: "Are you stupid or something? Just kidding." Or: "Come over here bulimic. Just kidding, you look good." Avoid sarcasm as these are just insults in disguise and reflect insecurity and lack of confidence. Trying to get a laugh at someone else's expense brands you as lacking in confidence, class, and social intelligence. Simply said, you'll look like a jerk.

To be successful with jokes, start with poking fun at yourself. If you notice that you forgot to shave, then you can say something like: "I need to shave. I have to make the transition from ape to human again." This will bring about a healthy laugh, at the same time projecting confidence and a healthy acceptance of yourself. You'll reveal a fun side that does not take yourself too seriously. And if you are not naturally spontaneous with jokes, memorize a few, and keep them in your back-pocket for use when the occasion arises. This can help you make up for your lack of spontaneous creativity.

Engage in playful teasing. It is one of the easiest ways to bring a conversation up to a fun and flirty level. To do this, think back to when you were in your 4th grade playground, as long as you were playful and not mean. What worked on the playground is incredibly effective in dating women.

Use fun and flirty conversation "games". Women enjoy games that are fun and flirtatious. They can be anything like "truth or dare", or the "5 questions game". In the process, you talk to a woman in a way that brings out her sexual side and that leads to sexual attraction. Don't be scared of talking about things on a more intimate level. It doesn't mean you talk about sex, but rather about personal and intimate topics when they do come up. These sorts of topics create rapport and have women start feeling a connection with you.

However, you might want to avoid sensitive issues like race, religion, and politics, until you get to know her well enough. Some people have deeply embedded opinions and beliefs which can make them defensive or even aggressive toward a perceived slight on their belief system.

Do not make rough physical contact such as pushing, grabbing, slapping, hitting, shoving, or wrestling when joking with a woman. This can be perceived as rude, boorish, creepy or downright threatening. Remember, women want to feel physically safe and emotionally secure around you. At the very least, you don't want to give the wrong impression; at worst, you don't want to be accused of assault.

A last note: Women love to laugh and have fun. If you tend to be a serious person and don't feel comfortable with being funny with women, don't despair. Take her to a funny movie instead, and let the actors do the job. Creating a fun and enjoyable encounter does not require the skills of a comedian. What you don't want to do is force yourself to act or behave in a way that is not natural to you. I once had a co-worker who was a very serious person by nature, but who would force himself to try to be funny. He simply ended up appearing socially inept and emotionally insecure, and women are q uite turned off by that.

Which is not to say of course, that a joke may not be appropriate sometimes. Occasionally, an awkward silence between the two of you can be a good time to crack a well-placed, well-timed joke to liven up the mood. What's important is to have a healthy sense of humor and the ability to create a fun and enjoyable encounter for attracting women, making them enjoy your company and wanting to spend time with you.

Why Cocky and Funny Attracts Women

We all grew up with the timeless advice of being a gentleman whenever we're around women. We have to hold doors, pull out chairs, not slouch... basically we have to follow all the rules if, they say, we want to be attractive to the women we meet.

There's just a little problem with this, especially these days - women deal with this kind of behavior all the time. Most of the new men they meet try to follow all the rules to the letter, and while it's always nice to have a polite companion, it doesn't trigger any special attraction to you.

Why? Simply because since they've seen this behavior in almost all of the men they've dated before, they begin to see you as just another one of them. In other words, it's truly boring for them. They'll never look at you as someone they'd like to spend more time with - after all, who'd like to date someone they can see right through?

This is where the cocky-and-funny routine should come in. This attitude is a great way to get under a woman's skin in a good way - that is, in a way that actually triggers attraction instead of boredom.

It may not seem to make sense at first - after all, how can being cocky be perceived as attractive? Of course, being only cocky can make you look like an arrogant jerk, and being only funny can make you look cheap or just plain goofy. By themselves, these attitudes will get you nowhere with a new woman.

But when used together, being cocky and funny is a game-breaking attitude that women will love, even if they're not aware of it. Here's why.

Being cocky and funny shows her that you're completely different from all the others. While other guys insist on playing by the rules, you'll be out breaking the rules and doing your own thing. It's a pleasant, exciting change of scenery for her. She'll appreciate the breath of fresh air that she'll get from you.

Also, it takes a lot of confidence to be both cocky and funny. But when you can pull it off, you'll exude this kind of confidence whenever you're with a new woman. Believe me when I say that women find complete confidence a much better turn-on than complete gentlemanliness.

Of course, if you can be cocky and funny and a gentleman, you'll pretty much be the complete package. Don't be surprised when women you've never met before actually approach you first.

Learn the Things to Say to a Girl or Woman to Make Her Laugh

In this book, we have compiled more than 10 things, which you can apply to make a woman or woman to laugh. You can use them in the middle of a conversation with a girl or when you want to approach a girl. You can get a lady to fall in love with you just by making them laugh. Girls love guys that can make them happy and they will always be around you once they discover you are a funny person. Having a regular sense of humor is a crucial attribute to make a lady fall in love with you. Some of the things to make women laugh are:

1. If a girl or woman is in the place where you are and you are searching for a method to front them or make them laugh, get a rose flower and observe the flower for a while together with touching it around. Turn to the girl and tell her that you have been demonstrating to this rose how pretty she is.

2. When you see a girl coming by and you wish to be connected to her or if you want to just make your woman laugh during a conversion. Simply ask them to show you the direction to the shortest route you can follow to reach their heart that you have fully lost yourself staring in their eyes.

3. In the midst of talking with a woman bring in this sense of humor. Tell them, "are you aware that two alphabets have been modified to a new one?" They will for sure ask what the new alphabet is or the alphabet that has been modified. Simply let her know that they joined you and me.

4. When you are chatting with a girl and you want to make the chat funny, there is something you can tell her to make the lady laugh. Tell the lady this. Babe, do you believe that I fall in love with you at first sight. If she disagrees or starts yapping, ask her whether she wants you to walk by her again to believe it.

5. When you walk pass a girl or your woman and you want to begin the conversation with a funny opening. Act as if you are lost and tell them if they have a map. If she asks why. Let her know that you were lost when looking into her eyes and now you need a map to enable you to get to the lady's heart.

6. In the middle of your toasting a girl, tell her that you have 11 roses and you are looking for one to make it 12. Tell the lady that if you have her she is going to make it 12 because she is more beautiful than a rose.

7. This one is very funny. You can use it to get a girl's phone digits. Are you short of ideas which you can use to get a woman's number? Then here it is. Once you tell her this one, she is going to laugh till she forgets her name. Approach a lady you want or in the middle of a conversion with the lady, act with seriousness and tell her that you just misplaced your number and could she borrow you hers?

8. This is a funny way to ask a girl to be your girl. In the middle of your discussion with the person, tell them this: Hi, my name is Mr. Chance. Can I get a chance to be your man?

9. When you are walking along the way and you come across a woman. Forward this question to them. Are your two legs looking very tired and weak? When they ask why you are asking them this. Simple tell the girl that since today she has been running through your mind every minutes and every second.

10. Form your finger like the shape of a gun. Position at the back of their body or hold them and position it at the left or right hand of their cheeks and tell them that they are under arrest. If she asks you on account of what charges, convey to them that it is because of they stole your heart.

11. Walk up to a good looking lady and start up a funny conversation with them this way. Are you from Greece? If the reply is No, or even say yes still say this statement that follows. I thought all the goddesses are from the land of Greece.

12. Ask her a girl if she is lost. If they ask you the reason for asking this, simply tell them that it is strange to see an angel from heaven here on earth.

MAKE A GOOD FIRST IMPRESSION

Making a Good First Impression When Approaching Women

Do you find it difficult to approach hot girls without getting instantly rejected? Sometimes it can feel like no matter what you do, they take one glance at you and decide that you're not funny/hot/interesting enough to talk to. That doesn't have to mean that you have a bad personality, just that you might be giving a poor first impression.

The first impression you can give is important, not only in dating, but also in life in general. If you can give a good first impression, you have a much better chance when approaching cute women. In this section of this book, you'll get a few tips on how to give a better first impression.

Here's how to make that first impression count:

1. Look your best.

No, you don't have to look like a photo model, or George Clooney, to give a good first impression. You just need to look like an interesting guy that takes care of himself. The easiest way to do this is to pay attention to what you're wearing and how you look. Before going out, make sure to take a shower and put on your best clothes. Women also focus a lot on what shoes a guy is wearing, so make sure they fit in with your outfit.

2. Be casual

Don't go out to a bar with an air of desperation around you. Girls can spot it from miles away, and they will turn you down for it. You should try to come across as a funny guy, just going out to enjoy yourself and have a good time. Don't start flirting wildly with a girl as soon as you start talking to her. Focus on being a fun, laid-back guy and the rest will follow.

3. Practice makes perfect

You need to just go out and do it, if you ever want to see progress. It's impossible to just read an article and instantly become an expert at approaching girls. You have to learn how to deal with rejection, and think of it as a learning experience. Every rejection brings you one step closer to success.

Also, you should never use pick-up lines. The truth is that they just don't work. Women are really turned-off by them, and they'll reject you instantly if you pull one on them. Also, don't put all your effort into one girl. There are thousands of hot, single girls out there, so why limit yourself to one? There's no harm in bouncing around from one girl to another during the night, in fact you'll get a lot more experience that way.

Make Her Melt for You the Second You First Meet

You only get one chance to make a first impression therefore it is very important that you know how to make a good impression on a woman when you first meet her because therefore you will stand out in her mind and become a possible attractive mate for getting physical with later on.

The problem is most guys do not know how to make a good impression and end up making an average one by not standing out enough or a below average one by being very nervous causing the women to become nervous as well. In this article I will outline some tips you can apply that can help you make a very positive and memorable impression on a woman.

One thing you must consider when making a first impression is to be different. Too many guys are average and to a woman average is boring. Instead of dressing like everyone else, buy yourself a cool accessory to stand out or instead of shaking the girls hand give her a high five instead. Techniques such as this will make you stand out and create a positive impression on the women you are meeting.

One thing you should avoid doing is trying too hard. You may have fallen into this habit by bragging too much or talking about yourself too much. This is a sure fire way to create a bad impression in a woman. Instead of trying so hard learn not to try at all and just focus on giving off positive emotions and having a good time. The less you care and the more you appear to be enjoying yourself the more the woman will like you. Women love positive emotions so the more laid back and funny you are the more she will be into you.

Guy Dating Tips - Make a Mind Blowing Impression on Any Girl!

Sometimes, dating can be a little scary for most men. Perhaps you may be feeling like you're in dire need of some guy dating tips to get you on the right track. So for all the men who are looking at jumping out of the single bandwagon, then this article is just right for you.

Dress Well - The first step towards a happy dating experience

Most men are known to not care about what's in their wardrobe especially as they get older. They don't really pay close attention to what they wear compared to most women. They simply shrug their shoulders and claim that this is who they are, take it or leave it. But you see, this is not an excuse. Girls have eyes too. And they could easily tell if you are not having it together.

Presentation is everything. It sets an amiable first impression and establishes your sense of self. Whether you're comfortable in your own skin, you are light and fun to be with - what you wear will definitely show it. And this does not go only when you're first meeting someone. This should go on well into the entire dating process.

We're not talking about buying some really expensive clothes and getting only the signature brands. This simply includes looking decent; clean, stylish clothing that reflects who you are as a person and accentuate your best q ualities. It's not really as tough as it looks. Once you've made it a habit of keeping yourself up, you will soon find out that it pays off in the end.

Be a Woman's Knight in Shining Armor

They say chivalry is dead. Well, this is now an opportunity for the men reading this guy dating tips to prove that it isn't so. There is no question that every woman is in search of their very own knight in shining armor. They long to find someone who could sweep them off of their feet, the 21st century way. But you don't have to be a prince or a knight straight out of a fairy tale to be this kind of man. It's the simple things you do that make a difference.

It goes as simple as opening the door for her or pulling out a chair for her when you dine out. Manners will also dictate for you to wait for her while you're eating. Allow her to take the first bite before diving into your meal. When she gets up, don't just sit around like she doesn't deserve the greatest respect. Stand up and be a gentleman. Most women initially don't pay attention to these things. But when you start acting the rare kind of breed of men that had seemed extinct for quite a number of decades, you will definitely stand out in their eyes and this could be the sign you are looking for because remembering you in a positive way, might just give you another chance to meet her again.

Actions are louder than Words

Many guy-dating tips will tell you that there are things you can do to impress a woman. However, most of it is just not true at all.

Most guys read a lot of crap so much that they have the tendency to put on an act when they're out on a date. Blame it on your nerves, but you can prevent this by just simply being yourself. You don't have to act smart, play the macho image, pass yourself off as the tough guy. This is not what a girl is looking for in a man.

Women actually hate some men who try to make them swoon by putting on a facade. Women value men who are comfortable in their own skin. These women like men who are true to themselves and will prove their interest more than they will strive just to make an impression.

Five Tips for Men to Ensure a Good First Impression with Great Online Photos

If you are serious about meeting someone online, you should definitely put at least one good picture of yourself on your profile. The main or default photo that shows up first on your profile ad should the best one you have, since that's the first image of you that women will see. This is actually your first chance, as far as online dating goes, to make a good impression. You should make sure not to miss that first opportunity.

Here are five tips for a great photo that will increase your success when dating online.

First, you should definitely use a recent photo. You might look much better in a 10-or 15-year-old picture, but the fact is that this does not represent the person you are today.

Women will contact you thinking that you are the good-looking man you were 10 or 15 years ago. Chances are that you do not look the same or better today. You may have gained a few pounds and most certainly a few wrinkles.

The fact is that the photo itself may not hurt you as it is, but when women find out how old the picture is, that may change. This may turn them off, and if you do not tell them the truth before your first meeting, your first chance to make a good impression in real life will have gone down the drain. You may not only spoil the first physical impression, but the first emotional impression too, as the woman may feel disappointed that you have tricked her.

Second, make sure to put a photo of yourself alone. Having a photo of you in between some of your friends or with your ex or somebody else is not recommended. Make it clear to a woman that she is looking at you, and that there is no need to specify which one is you. You do not want to confuse her, and you want to make sure that she does not end up thinking that you are somebody else.

Third, have a clear photo of yourself. The photo should not be blurry, and you should not appear too small or too big. It should be easy to see your face and maybe the rest of your body also.

Fourth, have a decent photo, which means a picture that has not been torn apart to remove the other people in it. Do not use a photo of you while drunk or with a glass of beer or alcohol in your hand, or passed out on the couch. Remember that you are trying to make a good first impression with your picture on your profile ad.

Make sure that you are also smiling. I have seen photos of people online in which they would have looked much better if they had smiled or had not looked so sad or upset. Don't forget: For women, a smile is a real turn-on.

Last, if you are serious about finding someone online, why not go to a photographer and get a really nice-looking picture taken of yourself? That would not cost you much more than a dinner out, and you would be sure of having a very good photo of yourself on your profile.

Having a great photo on your profile ad can make a world of difference. You never know what can happen when you do things right and stack all the chips on your side. This can only have a positive effect toward your desired outcome. You may end up with the woman of your dreams taking the first step in making contact with you.

7 Ways to Make a Mind Blowing First Impression on Any Girl! - She Will Be Addicted to You

The first few seconds of meeting up with any girl will decide your future with her and it is hence critical that you impress the girl within those precious moments. Exploit these 7 ways to make a mind blowing first impression on any girl and sweep her off her feet in the first couple of seconds itself...

Of course, smelling good and a haircut that makes you look chic and macho at the same time would also be a big plus and any girl will surely get impressed as soon as you come into view.

A positive and confident attitude too will radiate the right signs and draw the girl into your aura. Introduce yourself with a pleasant smile and a slightly firm handshake, a hug or a nod of the head depending on the situation.

A good sense of humor will go a long way in keeping any girl happy in your company and the first sentence popping out of your mouth should launch the girl into peals of laughter.

Your eyes too can impress any girl within seconds. Look into the girl's eyes with your own twinkling eyes that indicate fun and mischievousness. Let your eyes promise the girl that good times await her in the future.

Your body language too should send out the right signals. Remain cool and relaxed instead of appearing tense. This will inform the girl that you are pleased to see her and will also make her emit similar signals.

The last way is to hone in on the girl you like even if there are many other girls around her. This will make the girl feel special; as it will make her feel that you have your eyes set only on her.

So, use these 7 ways and make a mind blowing impression on any girl within the first precious moments.

How to Make a Lasting Impression on Her

You saw the girl of your dreams and in your mind and heart; you want to give it a shot to meet her. This could make or break you and you need to do the right things to make a lasting impression on her. They say that you only have one chance to make a good impression. Her are some tips for you.

Relax and be yourself. It maybe nerve wracking to finally meet and talk with the girl of your dreams for the first time but try to control your anxiety. It maybe flattering for her to see you a little bit nervous but do not let your nervousness control you. To make a lasting impression on her, just be yourself, relax and enjoy the moment with her.

Look at your best. This is a very basic requirement to make a lasting impression on her. You are just in the getting to know each other stage and you may get judged by the way you look. Look at your best, nice haircut, good hygiene, choose clothing that match your personality and carry yourself well. Outside appearance counts if you want to make a lasting impression.

Look her in the eye. This is a very powerful way to connect and make a lasting impression on her. Some women admitted that they go out with a guy because he kept an eye contact with them. When you finally meet her, keep an eye contact while she is talking to show that you are interested not only with the words she is saying but because you are interested with her.

Make her laugh. When the situation gets awkward or you do not know what to say or do, simply break the ice by throwing a nice joke and make her laugh. Most women are worrier and they love to be with guys who have sense of humor. You will definitely make a lasting impression on her if you can make her laugh and forget her worries while she is with you.

Be a gentleman and treat her well. In this modern dating world, sometimes men forget about chivalry. It may be dead for some men, but proves that you are different. Treating her well will always make a lasting impression on her. Open doors for her and treat her like a princess and she will never forget you.

MAKE YOURSELF IRRESISTIBLE

What are the keys to being irresistible to women? What is the big secret of making women get attracted to men? Discover the infamous "3 Strategies Of Increasing Your Irresistibility Factor" and achieve mind-blowing results with women.

Almost every man out there has got the misconception that in order to attract women, men will have to impress women as much as possible. This may work in a small number of cases, but it definitely does not guarantee success. Worse, it might paint men as insecure and validation-seeking. The big secret here is that women are not rational beings, and in order to be irresistible to them, you only need to appeal to their emotions. Read on to discover the three underground strategies on making yourself irresistible to women.

3 Strategies To Being Irresistible To Women

1. Be totally unreasonable- This might sound very counter-intuitive, but being difficult to deal with is often a very big 'attraction driver' for women. You don't have to be a jerk and be totally impossible, but you want to come across as someone who is hard to pin down on. This will escalate your 'social value' and also make you different from the rest.

2. Achieve high 'mindshare'- Once you have gotten their attention, the key here is to be on their mind as much as possible. One deadly effective trick that you can apply here is to call her up and talk to her just before she goes to sleep. When she wakes up in the morning, the first thing that she thinks of would be you.

3. The art of 'fractionation'- This is a seduction tactic where a man uses a 'trick' to bring a girl through an emotional rollercoaster via conversation. Still largely unknown, it is reputed to be one of the most effective ways to get women sexually attracted to a man.

Bear in mind that there are certain things about men that women love and the program is designed to show you how you can master those traits to bring them back to you over and over again. It'll also explain how you can use the many social and conversational methods to attract women.

How to be Irresistible to Women Review: Don't Be a Wallflower, Get Her Attention

Bear in mind, women get tired of the same old routines from men especially if they see it time and again. Don't ask a woman if you can buy her a drink or any other lame question. All of it is a recipe for disaster, as she'll just chalk you up to just another one of the guys. This is what Bradley is trying to tell you... stand out! It's time to approach these beautiful women in a different way; something that will catch her attention and leave her craving more from you.

First Steps to Learn How to Be Irresistible To Women

How to be irresistible to women is probably one of the most asked q uestions by men and that is what this article is here for, to help give you a nudge in the right direction. Most people believe that you need to be born as some kind of god's gift to women, but that is not the case at all, as this article reveals. I honestly believe that everything in life can be a learnable skill, and no exception to this is learning how to be irresistible to women.

Girls Love Playing Games

The majority of the tips written in this article might not make sense to the men out there reading them, but you have to remember that women don't think the same as men! Even though it is obviously an exaggeration, the idea behind the phrase "women are from Venus and men are from Mars" isn't so far-fetched.

Men like to know the cold hard facts, what the woman is thinking and doesn't mind letting her know what is on his mind, but women tend to find this way of life boring and uninteresting. Keeping a little mystery makes the whole dance of seduction much more fun to women, for example telling them all the time that you are interested and would like to take things further might work sometimes, but it wouldn't be as effective as keeping her guessing, hinting that you like her but not saying for definite.

Learning how to play the games women love to play goes hand in hand with learning how to be irresistible to women. Play these games right and you'll be making women feel good and they'll have fun when they are with you. If women feel good when they are around you, it goes without saying that they will stay and interested.

Take Control of the Situation

Without a doubt, a real solution to learning "how to be irresistible to women" is to take control. The fact that you are the one making the decisions and are in charge soon becomes clear when you practice these ideas. Making these choices is effective, even if they are just small decisions.

There's nothing wrong with being the person who chooses what you are going to do instead of just following a woman around like a lap dog, but I want to make it clear that I am NOT in any way suggesting you become bossy and rude to women. That isn't the point of this exercise and I hope that it doesn't sound like that is what I'm saying you should do. Men who are in control attract women and it stems down deep even in their primal instincts.

Before you start seeing the results you are waiting for, you need to start applying the techni q ues described in these articles in your life. Just reading them won't change anything. The best way to become accomplished with these skills and perfect them is practice, so remember to be a little bit more mysterious so women find you fun, and take control of the situation.

Hot Tips to Make Yourself irresistible to women

Have you ever seen men who can draw the attention of all the women in a room by merely walking into it? Such men seem to exude an aura of magnetism and become the focus of female attention with seemingly no effort at all. Careful observation would show that very few of these men are drop-dead handsome, in fact, they may look just like the average Joe. If you think this is something that these men were born with, you can think again. This effect on women is something that any man can achieve with a little practice and knowledge.

Here's how to be utterly irresistible to women -

Be Cool - There are several moments in your life that can be downright embarrassing - spilling wine all over yourself on the first date, walking into a door, the list is endless. Going on the defensive can be very damaging to your image. The best thing to do is probably to use humor to mitigate the incident. You would still come up looking good.

Stay confident - Looking self-assured often means that half the battle is won. You don't really have to be strong enough to knock out The Great Khali. You merely need to behave as though you could. Of course, you should also be smart enough not to pick a fight with a pro wrestler if you can't take him.

Pretend to ignore interested women - This is the killer move. Women just cannot stand being ignored, especially if a man they want to impress favorably ignores them completely. They will try every trick in the book to grab the attention of such a man.

Be Caring and Loving—Beautiful women love being nurtured. They find a caring man hard to resist. One of the ways of showing your care and love for others is by playing with the kids and pets. Girls absolutely like men who love their dogs.

Do something awkward or innovative—Girls also feel a natural attraction in dealing with awkward and difficult-to-handle men. The challenge makes them attracted however this awkwardness should not cross the limits of being rude. Never be discourteous or vulgar to a striking beauty. Girls always love to deal with unreasonable men.

Read her mind firstIt is also a huge turn-on for a woman if you speak out what she is thinking before she speaks. It seems difficult but it is one of the easiest techni q ues. You just have to keep an eye on what she is doing and what is watching and you will automatically come to know what she is about to say. Most of the time, you will be hitting the bull's eye. You may give it a try.

Hang out with beautiful chicks- Women love competition, and will see a guy with lots of women around him as an attractive man. It also shows that you are not a needy person who always needs to depend on one woman.

Maintain constant eye contact—By looking into her eyes while you are out with her, it shows that you are a very confident man. She will also get the hint that you are interested in her and women just love it when men look into their eyes.

Have the Bad boy attitude - Like it or not, the bad boy still rules. Most women will fall victims to bad boys as they feel that being around with bad boys are very exciting and believe that one day they can change them for good.

Provide a listening ear—Women always want men to listen to them when they have problems. By just sitting down and listen to her whining instead of providing solutions to her, you are doing her a very big favor.

Find out what are her interests- Women love to talk, therefore you must know how to get her to talk about what she is crazy about. Make her feel that the both of can really get along very well.

There is a reason why nice guys finish last—Why do you think nice guys always finish last when it comes to the dating game? Well you see nice guys are simply too predictable and there is absolutely nothing left to know about them. Whereas in the case of bad boys they never reveal too much and there is always an element of mystery about them which women seem to love. So you see the real key here is to maintain a level of mystery.

Treating them nice wouldn't work—Yup! If you thought being a gentleman was the key to a woman's heart than you are strongly mistaken. You see the gentleman theory used to exist in the olden days and yes it did work wonders back then but not now. Now the life is fast and so are people. If you be too nice to women nowadays they might end up treating you like a door mat saying you are not man enough for them. You see you have to treat them mean to keep them keen.

Learn to get up and walk away- Do you know one thing beautiful women can't take? It's a guy walking away from them. You see beautiful women are used to men chasing them but when you master the art of walking away you automatically become something special in her mind and she would chase you down like crazy.

MASTER THE USE OF BODY LANGUAGE

Body Language to Attract Women: How It Works

As much as you would like to believe that women are attracted to good looking or wealthy men, the reality is far removed from that in most cases. The key to approaching and attracting women is communication.

Now, by communication, we generally mean what we talk to people. Oral communication, however, is not all there is to communication. The fact is that 90% of our daily communication is through nonverbal signals or what is commonly known as body language. When you are in the company of people, there is a constant transmission of positive or negative nonverbal signals without your knowledge. That means that if you are just a bit careful, you can use body language to attract women.

The best part of using body language to attract women is that you see instant results. The moment you modify body language to attract women, you immediately become approachable. The other good thing about this is that the changes that you have to make are subtle and elusive. However, once you adopt them, they become a part of your natural style.

If you see a person engrossed in writing something, you get a signal that s/he is not to be disturbed. If you have to say something, you wait until s/he puts down the pen or stops typing. Similarly, who do you find more approachable: a person with her head down and hands locked behind her back, or one who is walking upright with her head held high?

As explained, body language is nonverbal. It is how you move, the tone of your voice, your posture and other physical expressions. A person crossing her arms across the chest sends different signals depending on the environment. Crossing arms is generally considered to be a barrier, i.e. a barrier between the person and others around her.

If it is cold, the crossing of arms is normally accompanied by the rubbing of palms. In a calm environment, it is a signal that a person is deeply engrossed in the topic being discussed. On the other hand, it indicates opposition in an environment where something is being debated. This should be enough to understand that body language to attract women is a powerful tool for making an impression.

If you want to attract women, your body language should exude confidence. If you are fidgety, you are sending a negative signal. A confident man has full control over his movements and walks slowly, thus conveying a message that he is in control of the situation. Even while relaxing, a confident man leans back and makes himself as comfortable as possible. A shy man, on the other hand, will sit upright with folded arms as if trying to shield himself from others.

There is more to using body language to attract women apart from body postures. The absence of eye contact sends a negative signal. A nervous man or a man who is too eager to meet women or men with anxiety problems will avoid eye contact. Similarly, the tone of your voice makes a great difference. Speak slowly in a conversational tone if you want to impress women. Men who speak fast usually make embarrassing mistakes, which eventually signals nervousness even if they are not in that frame of mind.

Body Language to Attract Women - Seduce Without Words

Using body language to attract women is one of the wisest moves you can make if your man wants to succeed in the dating and attraction game. For one thing, a lot depends on the first impression you make in your body language is one of the biggest parts of the first impression with anyone, female or not.

In addition, body language is a powerful communicator. Everyone responds to body language whether they are even aware it exists or not. Part of this is rooted deep in our genetics, so it's not likely to change anytime soon.

Now, I wouldn't want anyone to be manipulative and use body language cues inappropriately, but neither would I want someone to be unaware if they've developed a habit of posture or gesture that works against them when it comes to attracting women.

The best use of body language is when it flows naturally from who you are. However it doesn't hurt to be familiar with a few of the more common body language signals.

The main message that you want women to receive is an air of confidence and competence. Secondary messages are ones of openness and friendliness. As you would probably suspect the foundation to create this impression is an upright posture with shoulders back, chest forward and head high. You should be willing to make eye contact but avoid annoying staring.

Part of the challenge is having this posture appear normal and natural. You don't want to carry yourself with military rigidity or come off like a strutting rooster. The best way to have it appear natural is to make this posture your normal, everyday way of carrying yourself, not something you try to put on when you walk into a room and see some women are present. Fact is that most men these days have pretty poor posture. Improving it does take some effort, but is well worth doing and will pay off in a lot of other ways including improved health and less risk of sports injury.

I have a hint here that I bet most men reading this won't pay attention to. It's one word: yoga.

I know, that doesn't sound very manly, but you can skip the metaphysical mumbo-jumbo if you want to and just focus on the physical benefits. You'll definitely improve your posture, and will also improve your flexibility and muscular balance. Yoga is a great adjunct to any exercise routine and sports activity.

The other basic body language message is your smile. Women are much more attracted to a smiling man than someone scowling in a corner. The other message of openness is to have your body facing the room or the person you're interested in. For example, if you're talking with someone at a bar, go take your body so you're facing them rather than just turning your head toward them as you talk.

You probably know that crossed arms gives off a negative, "stay away" signal. However many men have a habit of posture that is at least as much a barrier to someone feeling comfortable approaching them as crossed arms. This habit is sitting with the ankle of one leg resting on the knee of the other leg. This cross-legged posture creates the body language e q uivalent a brick wall in front of you.

If you do cross your legs when you're sitting with someone you're interested in, it should be one knee on top of the opposite with the top leg pointing toward the person of interest.

These tips alone will help you prevent some of the common body language mistakes. As you pay a bit of attention to the way you carry yourself and the messages you receive back, in a very short period your body language will be remarkably effective in attracting women.

The Right Way to Use Body Language to Attract Women

Did you know that you could use body language to attract women? Most guys are convinced that there are only two things that will attract women: good looks and money. What happens if you don't have either? Something's got to work. Surely you've noticed the immense number of "losers" who have neither money nor good looks, but who still manage to have at least one attractive woman on their arm at all times. So, what is it that they have that you don't? Simply put, skill and swag...

Displaying Confident Body Language

Utilizing body language to attract women is one of the most brilliant things a man can do. Women love men who are confident and display this through their body language. One of the ways you can let the world know that you are confident and dominant is by dominating the space you are in. Let's say for example you're in a hotel waiting room and you're sitting on a sofa or love-seat. Instead of sitting up, all "prim and proper", sprawl out instead. Prop your legs up and take up the entire space by sitting on the couch sideways. You can always make room for the woman to sit down, but you can be sure that she'll recognize your confidence and be automatically drawn to your dominance.

Avoid Nervous Body Language

Any indication that you're insecure about yourself can potentially ruin a woman's perception of who you are. If this is your first time with her (and her first impression of you), it's best that you make sure you come across confident and in control of yourself, which means you should refrain from fidgety behavior, tapping your foot, looking around, avoiding eye contact, slumping over, etc. Doing any of these will automatically cause her attention to wander elsewhere, q uite possibly toward the guy across the room who is confidently sprawled out on the couch. Suddenly, you're no longer the "alpha" male in the room.

Easy Does It

When a woman knows a man is trying to win her attention, she'll think it's cute, and she's likely to feel admired. However, there is such a thing as trying too hard. Trying too hard may cause you to come across as fake, annoying, and even silly and amateur. Women want a man who isn't afraid to maintain an air of mystery about what they're doing. Even if the pursuit of her emotions and heart remain unspoken, it's still much better than trying too hard and giving yourself away.

Use Subtle Ways to Show You like Her

The way to attract women is not to come on too strong. There are ways to let a woman know you like her without coming out and saying, "Hey, I like you." One particular thing you can do but must always be very careful with is to express energy in her presence. Not all women are psychic, but the vibes you put off can be felt. Be sure to maintain confident, positive thoughts at all times when you're around a woman you like, as she will be able to sense it on the Avoid outside.

Entering Her Personal Space

Maintain respect when it comes to her "comfort zone" - try not to invade her personal space. Invading a woman's personal space or comfort zone is not good - unless she invites you in. Using body language to attract women by touching, poking, and friendly, flirty, soft "punches" on the shoulder are okay, but should not be overdone. Too much and she'll assume you're a creep.

In Summation

If you know how to utilize these skills properly, you'll have tons of women lined up to be with you, no matter how much or how little money you have and regardless of what you look like. The key is confidence. You can always tell when a guy is confident about himself by the way he carries himself. Using body language to attract women is one of the oldest tricks in the book, and it's sure to work every time.

Discover The Benefits of Using Body Language To Attract Women

Body language is what we communicate with first. It is also what we communicate with continually, even when our mouths are closed. What we say is important but it is a much smaller percentage of our total communication than is our body language. It is therefore crucial that you master your own nonverbal communication if you hope to attract women.

They will notice if you appear meek, frightened, or intimidated, and they will probably be turned off (some women like these traits because they want a man they can dominate). If you want to learn how to maximize your chances of attract that special women, this article will present a couple tips to help. Stand-up straight. A good, stable posture is the foundation of effective body language. Everyone knows what good posture is but not all of us make the effort to maintain it.

The key is to keep your back straight, with your shoulders held back slightly, and your chest pushed out. This might sound unnatural, but that's only because you are probably used to having poor posture. In addition, you should keep your head and neck up. Imagine your head were suspended in air by a string attached to the top of it. It feels light as it lifts up your neck so that it reaches its full length.

It also raises your chin a bit, not so much that your head is tilted back, but enough so that your eyes are always looking straight ahead. The overall effect of this posture is a projection of supreme confidence. No matter how you feel on the inside you will appear confident to those observing you, and women especially will be attracted to this. A great way to improve your posture is through weight-lifting and stretching. Yoga is especially effective, and has been shown to actually make you taller.

The Alexander Techni q ue has also been proven to aid with posture improvement. Swagger. This word has become the slang of choice, in some circles, to denote an attractive and uni q ue style. Its original definition is closely related, denoting an "aggressive gait." When you move from place to place you want to swagger. In this case, swagger is a walk that eats up the terrain with a somewhat long, and definitely purposeful stride.

You don't want to seem too aggressive, but you should look like you know where you're going and what you're going to do once you get there. Your arms should have a definite swing to them that matches your stride. Like having good posture, swagger will telegraph your confidence around the room, making you attractive to women. A word of caution: practice this at home at bit in front of a mirror.

When you unveil your new posture and swagger in public venues, do so gradually. If you come off as fake or exaggerated, your incongruity will repel most women. You will also be feeling self-conscious. The key is to internalize these tips, so that you do them naturally all the time. And then you'll be attracting women all the time, too.

TREAT WOMEN WITH RESPECT

The Art of Respecting Women

If someone had to ask me, what my secret was to keeping women in my life it would be this one principle to respecting women. Not being like those so called "all guys are the same" type that women always complain about. When you respect a woman she will do absolutely anything for you as long as you are genuine about it. If you are being fake or just trying to be someone you are not so you can get into a woman's pants it won't work they are smarter than you think my friend.

When you respect a woman and she knows it she will brag to all of her friends how much of a good guy you are and you're already half way there. I know of men who don't even go out and meet women in night clubs and they consistently have women around them and this is because they respect women and the word travels to other women like a plague. You would have heard of word of mouth? Well women talk and when you are different and unique to men you start to become well known.

So what is respect exactly in the first place? To take notice of, to regard with special attention, to regard as worthy of special consideration, hence, to care for, to heed.

How do you respect a woman? To respect a woman it means to simple be genuine to not play games and to be the real you. To know the difference between right and wrong and to always be honest to yourself and others, to not only respect women but men as well. To not do anything to someone else that you would not like done to yourself.

I hear of men who brag about picking up a woman that has a bf or how they "hooked" up with a woman who is seeing someone. Now these men who brag first of all have no respect because I am sure if that guy had a girlfriend and she cheating on him with another man he would not be too happy about it. What this guy doesn't realise is that word travels fast and that eventually the word will get out and when it does women TALK and that guy will be known as a guy who has no respect for women therefore ruining his chances with all of the woman's friends and then their friends which will be attractive high q uality women.

Women don't want to hang around men that they cannot trust they want to hang around a man who has his life together and has respect for himself and others. I can honestly tell you that having respect for women is one of the biggest causes for women being drawn to me.

Real Men Respect Women

Four words mean so much for our civilization - for men to be manly enough to respect the women around them; their wives, mothers, sisters and co-workers, particularly.

Yet, gutless, fearful men cannot bring themselves to respect women. Their abuse and neglect of women spurns from a pitiful lack within them, as they strive for their self-esteem needs to be met through the folly of macho ends. Or perhaps they just don't care.

Perhaps as a father of three daughters, and being at times a very flawed husband, I will identify myself as a man who's struggled to appropriately respect the women in my life. The failure of my first marriage taught me much about the importance of men respecting women. I've learned first-hand that treating women like one of the guys, or without the appropriate care, can be a big mistake. Not that I would've been described as anything abnormal so far as husbands are concerned. That's the point. Men very often don't get it. We must rise above ourselves to achieve a level of respect that God requires when it comes to women.

A mature man is one who knows how to treat a woman.

WOMEN - THE 'HOLIER' OF HUMAN CREATURES

What might sound ridiculous is, in my opinion, nevertheless true. Women might only be insensitive and uncouth when they've been exposed, even dominated, by the male culture around them. It may have been a case of 'if you can't beat them, join them'.

Women, generally speaking, are much more principled than men are, and perhaps men have the additional pressure of the macho persona to uphold.

As I write that women are holier of the human creatures, I necessarily check myself. Is this true? Are women, generally speaking, further from tests and temptations than men are? Perhaps not entirely, but a woman's test and temptation seems fundamentally different and more subtle than a man's. They're the gentler gender. Care is more their aim than it is a man's. And without being seared beyond recognition, their consciences seem more able to be right-sized and redeemed. They're also truer, more often than not, regarding the reality of their emotions than men are.

A TASK BIG ENOUGH FOR A MAN

Men must understand that women need to be treated like human beings and not treated as if they can be owned, utilized or used. Men can't treat women like they often treat other men, not that other men should be treated anything less than human beings either.

The task big enough for a real man is to be sensitive enough to the needs of the moment, trying to sense and intuit how to treat the women in their midst. This is not about treating them any better than anyone else; but it's about treating them as we would wish - if we were women - to be treated.

How to Attract Women Using Respect

In the dating scene today, it's easy to get caught up in the struggles. You have to identify the type of woman you want, what interests you might share - and then on top of that, figure out how to attract her! There are so many steps it can seem overwhelming, especially if it feels like you're doing all the wrong things.

Well, the truth is that there is really only one ingredient you need to attract women: respect.

The importance of respect in attracting women

Women have built-in emotional sensors, as it were. They are very intuitive and can pick up on a man's intentions very easily and subconsciously. She will know if you are eyeing her at the bar because you just want in her pants. And she will think you only view her as a piece of meat.

However, if you approach this woman from a different perspective - one where you value her individual beauty and uni q ueness, and you inherently respect her, she will pick up on that.

Respect sends the right signals

Coming up to her with an attitude of respect immediately sends off subconscious signals. Your body language will be more inviting and less threatening. Your voice will be gentler and more inviting. She will immediately feel more comfortable in your presence if you are genuinely interested in her and consider her with the respect she deserves.

Respect is vital to relationships

Even if your intentions are simply to hook up with her for one night, you must still treat her with respect. Invite her to simply talk q uietly or have a drink with you. Be genuine in your flattery; don't tell her she has a great smile or hair if you really don't believe it. Instead focus on the attributes about her you do find attractive - and compliment her on those.

Be a gentleman as well. Pull her chair out for her, open doors for her, buy the drink for her. Don't consider yourself as being lower than her, but treat her as though you genuinely value her individual company - which you should.

If you ever intend to enter into a solid relationship with a woman, respect must be an integral part of it. Starting with a respectful attitude towards a woman will go a long way towards initially attracting her - and subse q uently keeping her interested in you.

Treat Women the Right Way and They'll Keep Coming Back

Let me start off by saying that you should always treat women with the utmost respect. This article is about how to treat women to make them feel attracted to you (and stay out of the "friend zone").

If you've ever wondered how to treat women - or how to treat women right (the way they REALLY want to be treated), you're in the right spot. This is how to treat women if you want them to feel and keep feeling attraction for you.

There's a fine line when it comes to building attraction with a woman, and being a "nice guy". There's also a reason women are very attracted to "bad boys". Women just simply aren't attracted to guys who are too nice.

Deep down, women are programmed to be attracted to certain things. Things like high status, confidence and strong values, because these traits are inherently masculine traits. And women are naturally attracted to men who have strong masculine traits

So, how does this relate to how to treat women?

It relates because you should never sacrifice your status, confidence, or values just to be please women. Women will often test you to see if you will fold. And when they do, you shouldn't automatically fold just to please her if it means sacrificing your values, status, or self confidence

Women want you to be a MAN. Not a wuss.

- They want to be respected.
- They want to be protected.
- They want to be cared for emotionally.
- They want you to be in control.
- They DON'T want you to be submissive. It's just not attractive.

Remember, even when they "test" you, and try to get you to fold, it's an opportunity for you to make them want you EVEN MORE, by standing your ground, and holding true to your values, but still showing her the utmost respect.

GET INTO HER MIND

Getting Into Her Head Will Get Her into Your Bed

They say that a way into a man's heart is through his stomach. Conversely, the way into a woman's heart and bed is through her head. Unlike men who are very visually stimulated animals, women on the other hand are stimulated with your words and your ability to make them feel good.

Have you ever wondered why you see the most beautiful women (9's and 10's) with the pudgiest, most unattractive men on the planet? I'll bet you think it's because they have money, or maybe you think that they are just their uncle or something. The truth is that these men have learned how to enter the mind of a woman at levels you cannot yet imagine.

I, myself, am not the most handsome man, or the richest man, or the most well-dressed man in my own city let alone the world, but over the past several years, I have begun to master the art of getting in a woman's head - Their psyche.

The only women that I'm even attracted to now are 9's and 10's because I have learned many things about the way these types of women think and react to situations that the average Joe hasn't taken the time or has had the guts to explore.

Most men are what we pick up artists call, the beta male. These are men who spend all of their time, money and energy trying to please women. They constantly compliment the woman, open doors, pull out chairs, laugh at their silly jokes and do just about anything to try to impress them. These are insecure men who believe that they must cater to a woman in order for them to return any affection to them, but all they ever get in return is to be put on the 'friends list' of every woman they pursue. These men are what we call nice guys and we all know that nice guys finish last if they finish at all.

Question? What the best thing that you want to say to a woman that is beautiful? I'll bet all of you betas said, 'tell her she's pretty'. WRONG!

The other, more rare class of men we call Alphas, will tell you to tell her that 'You've got nice shoes but your feet are too big.' Underhanded compliments work to perfection. You compliment but insult at the same time thus neutralizing the effect. Then say something like, "I can't date a chic that can wear my Nikes." If her reply is something like, "who says we're dating anyways?" you're in there.

Think about this. A pretty girl that knows she's pretty has lived her entire life being told just how beautiful she is. Men have tried to cater to her every whim in an attempt to woo her and make her theirs. So as a new prospective mate, you must find a way to stand out from the crowd of thousands of other men who have already tried to spoil her but to no avail, which is why she's still single.

When she hears "you're pretty", she may politely say thank you but right away you've just thrown yourself head first into the pile of other guys who thinks she's pretty. Big deal. Nothing else to talk about.

Now if you tell her that her feet are big or her hair is nappy, or her dress is too short, then you've done something that most men are afraid to do, tell the truth, and that will ultimately attract her to you.

Pretty women are used to being stared at and admired. My advice, glance at her, then ignore her. She'll wonder why in the hell you aren't as mesmerized by her booty, I mean, her beauty as every other man is. This type of reverse psychology will intrigue her on many levels. She will be attracted to you if not for anything more than to learn what your deal is because you are DIFFERENT regardless of how you look (refrain from looking like a bum though).

In the world of hot women, what they say they want is often times the opposite of what they really want. 'I want a nice guy'. Bull!, she'll run all over him and treat him badly or worst yet, like a 'friend'. Nice guys lack the control and confidence that a hot chic would want in a mate.

Whether a she wants to admit it or not, she wants a real MAN, an ALPHA MALE.

A man that does little to try to please. A man that 'she' is constantly trying to please because she never quite knows what it is that you want. A man that 'she' can never seem to satisfy. Not being able to please you will keep her trying. A man that doesn't give in to telling her what she 'wants' to hear but will always tell her what she 'needs' to hear. A man that she can follow anywhere. A man that they can trust to be honest with them. The type of man that deserves her affections. An Alpha Male. Not some schmuck that does and says everything that they think she wants them to.

Get into a Woman's Mind Using These Three Concealed Techni q ues

Desperation is often a thing fre q uently related to guys in the game of dating. The reason being men're those who go after girls, based on the typical social rules. Girls generally anticipate to be pursued. However, there are specific aspects, which will drive girls to behave as the possible predators in the dating scene.

When a guy can get a girl attracted enough, she is going to do the work for him. If you wish to be the man who is able to make girls desperate, you ought to try out the following advice.

1. Concentrate on the woman's emotions.

Try to do anything to make a woman laugh. Crack some jokes, tease her and act boyish when you are with her. With each and every laugh, she will lower her defend. She begins to think of you as being an excellent guy and a potential lover.

Once she begins viewing you like you are her favorite toy, indicate to her that you need to go. This type of cliffhanger push girls crazy making them desperate to give their phone number to men.

2. Become a Guy of Value.

When a girl thinks of you as a quality guy, you are able to create attraction very easily. I listed here are the actual factors you have to show a girl to get her think of you as a 'reward'.

You should never behave like you are completely in love with her. You ought to make her feel that her 'outer beauty' does not impress you, this will make her doubt about her ability to attract guys. This actually also indicates that you are truly searching for substance in a girl.

Since you make it obvious to her that her beautiful looks do not bother you, she is going to throw herself at you wishing to get your approval.

3. Covert hypnosis

There is a covert techni q ue that will make any girl fall in love fast. Covert hypnosis is a seduction method based on hypnosis, and it will make a girl feel emotional with you when you are in a conversation with her. She feels attracted and attached, and will happily do nearly anything in order to make you happy.

Sparking Attraction by Getting Into Her Mind

The most common mistake that you commit when out meeting girls is you tend to focus on their impression. You are so worried at how they look at you that you tend to forget about them completely. You act as if you are walking on a tight rope, so afraid to making a mistake. Unfortunately, a woman can tell whether you are comfortable or not or being uptight and being uptight is not a good thing.

When a woman senses that you are uneasy she may also get the impression that she did something wrong or that you are not interested with her. This can result to her rejecting you or turning down your offer. If you fail to resolve this aspect of your personality, it is no shock for you ends up dateless and single for months.

If you want to attract a woman, you do not have to pretend to be perfect. If you try to be perfect and worry too much of her perception then you will end up ruining things up. Rather than focusing on her impression, try getting into her thoughts. Think about ways you can help her open up to you, ways to make her comfortable, and ways to keep the conversation going without boring her or you.

For example, if she is hesitant to open a topic and you have a topic in mind. Do not hesitate to open it up. By starting the conversation you are supplying the things you are going to talk about while making her feel comfortable at the same time. Moreover, if you want to get to know her better and get her talking about herself, you should begin by making a small talk about yourself first. However, make sure that you do not appear to be self-absorbed.

Yes, you can spark attraction by perceiving their thoughts or by getting into their heads and you can only do this if you stop worrying about her first impression.

MAKE HER MISS YOU

How to Make a Woman Miss You - 3 Simple Seduction Techniques Which Work Every Single Time

There are men who can simply attract women wherever they go. This tendency has a lot to do with the vibe that they give out, which in turn has been created by several masculinity factors that only the best seduction experts can teach.

Luckily, there are several ways to increase your sex appeal... and make a woman miss you whenever you are not around. If you develop your skills in attracting women using these three simple (but deadly effective) seduction strategies, you will turn into a babe magnet in no time. Read on...

How To Make A Woman Miss You - 3 Simple Seduction Techni q ues Which Work Every Single Time

Strategy #1. Absolute Confidence

There are men who fake confidence, and they're usually the ones who get "pride-broken" when they get rejected. Women instinctively know who these guys are, and most of the time, they feel the neediness simmering under the facade of feigned self-assurance.

Real confidence makes a guy manlier-It will give you the guts to tell a girl that you're not interested if you really aren't. It will also make you seem more godly than other men in the room. And, needless to say, it will make you more attractive to women.

Strategy #2: No Drama

Men who seem strong emotionally always seem to attract women. This is because women are more attracted to men who can serve as protectors and emotional pillars. Never react even when a girl is goading you to show a reaction. If you have to show emotion, it must be kind indulgence or humor. Reacting wildly to a provocation will only make you seem weak.

Strategy #3: Magnetic Presence

Your overall personality can be complemented by your conversation skills. If you can find a way to be magnetic just by applying the basics of hypnosis while you're in conversation, you can easily turn any girl into your girlfriend.

"I Miss You" - How to Make a Woman Feel This about You

OK, it's pretty safe to say that at some point you've made it a point to try and impress a woman, get her to think about you, do whatever you can to make her want you. Did you also smile when you thought about how awesome it would be if you made it to where she was sighing, missing you, longing for the next time she'd talk to you or see you again? You can make this happen, so keep reading to learn 3 sure ways to do it.

In Charge

If you assert yourself as being the leader in everything when you are with her, then she will miss you. Basically, this means whenever a decision comes up, you make it. In today's world, this may be considered an outdated tactic, even chauvinistic. However, if you're the one who makes every decision, you will instill yourself in her mind as a leader and she will want to have you around and feel like something's missing when you're not.

Tune in Next Time... You've seen those TV shows that leave you in suspense until the next episode, like the old Batman series when the Batman and Robin are sure to be doomed and you have to wait to find out what happens next week. You can use this same tactic with a woman. Prepare to tell her something, something regarding her, then let her know that you'll tell her the next time you talk to or see her. This will leave her in suspense, wondering what it was, whether it was good or bad, etc. You'll be on her mind more than ever until she knows what it is you have to tell her.

Goodnight, Sweet Dreams

Do you want to be the first thought in her mind when she wakes up in the morning? This one is easy. Be the last thing on her mind at night. How you do this is simple. Call her before she goes to bed. This will make sure that you are on her mind when she goes to sleep and conse q uently on her mind when she wakes up.

If you follow these tips, you'll have her missing you in no time, and you'll always be on her mind. It's not difficult to do, and each of these methods is known to work. If you would like more tips on how to get a woman to miss you,

How to Make a Woman Miss You - Have Her Thinking about You Constantly

Men are usually on the short end of this particular stick. We work so hard at getting the girl that we try too hard and care too much about losing her. In the case of these emotions, caring too much is often what drives her away. You can come off as clingy and needy. Women want a challenge, basically they need to feel that they are more into the guy then she is into her. If you care and have feelings how can you make a woman miss you and have her thinking about you constantly. Read on and I will give you a few ideas...

Confidence is key to having her think of you constantly

I almost get sick of saying it. If you want to have an easy way with women you must first gain confidence in yourself. You must walk before you and run before you fly. That does not mean you will not have success while you are building your confidence, but you will never have real success until you feel it from within, or learn to fake it really well. Being confident and speaking freely without worrying about how the girl will "take it" is the cornerstone of making a woman miss you. The thought that you might not be "that into her" will drive her to deeper feelings of attraction.

We all want what we cannot have and respect what we work hard to get

To make a woman miss you must remember and live by the above sentence. If she does not have some feeling that gaining you is an "accomplishment" she will never value you then therefore never miss you that much. One thing that increases value is absence. Reminds me of an old saying "absence makes the heart grow fonder". I love old sayings, there is always wisdom and truth to be found in them. If you spend too much time with her, she loses respect and knows that you care too much. Much better to have a lot of time you when you are not available, this will make her think you lead a busy and exciting life and increase her desire to see her again.

Fix Yourself

I am not going to say there is anything "wrong" with you. But let's face it, we all have bad habits of some shape or form. It is human nature. What are your bad habits? Are they things that many women might find unattractive?

One way to become more attractive is to take a hard look at yourself. If you have bad habits that are unappealing, think long and hard about taking steps to change those habits, and pick up more attractive good habits in their place. Becoming more attractive is a surefire way to be more attractive to women.

ALWAYS SAY THE RIGHT THINGS

What All Girls Like To Hear From Men

Imagine how successful you would become at picking up girls if you knew what they wanted to hear. It would be as if you could pick up any girl you wanted by just simply talking to her and the truth is that it is definitely possible if you become really good at telling a girl what she needs or wants to hear. So the million dollar q uestion is what do girls really want to hear? Well, this is what we will discuss in this article.

You Are Beautiful

Most men think that calling a woman attractive will suffice but being attractive is not something that women want to be, they want to be called beautiful. But if you just call her beautiful she will think something has gone wrong with you, it is important to look into her eyes and talk to her explaining her beauty prior to calling her beautiful. On the list of what every girl wants to hear this ranks right at no. 1.

Intelligence

Now if the woman you are going out with has this feeling that she is not beautiful or she knows that she is ordinary looking, calling her beautiful is going a bit too far especially if you just met her. The second thing that most women want men to say to them is "wow, you are pretty intelligent," or "you are one heck of an intelligent girl." These are words that every woman loves to hear not to mention the fact that it makes them feel good about themselves.

Compliment Their Eyes and Hair

Women put lots of time and effort in their hair, so that they look good. Many women will in fact spend hours trying to get their hairdo right just so that they look more attractive. If you see a girl with a really good hairdo or style be the first to compliment her on this. If anything tell her that you love her hair or her hairstyle is going to get you the first date. In addition you should also tell her that her eyes look great. Every woman wants to hear a man say that she has beautiful eyes.

Avoid Sounding Sarcastic

Women hate sarcastic comments about their appearance or any other thing. Make sure that the compliments you dish out come at appropriate moments and are according to the situation. For instance telling a rather chubby woman that she looks skinny is going to make her think that you are making fun of her. Never try to indicate to a woman that you think she is chubby or fat.

Things to Say to Make a Girl Smile

When it comes to things to say to make a girl smile, half of it is about having charm and the other half is about actually having something clever or witty to say. In other words, not only do you need the right things to say to make a girl smile, but you also need the right method of delivery to make a girl smile. One without the other is simply just not going to cut it.

As you're thinking of things to say to make a girl smile, you must also remember to think about your audience. Who is the girl? What is her personality like? How do you think she will react? Things that may make one girl smile, may make the next girl slap you. Every girl is different so you must practice at delivering the right words to the right girl.

Also, remember that your ultimate objective is to generate humor and sexual tension. When you're carrying on a conversation with a girl, you want to make her laugh, and at the same time, you want to make her feel sexually attracted to you.

Now that you have some background information on things to say to make a girl smile, let's get on with what you're actually going to say.

Typically, in a conversation, a girl is going to ask you what you do for a living to make small talk. You can respond by saying something along the lines of, "Oh, I'm a professional thumb wrestler" or "I build houses out of cardboard boxes for homeless people." What you're trying to do here is set the tone to let her know that you're sarcastically joking, enshroud yourself with a hint of mystery about your real job, and imply that your real job is respectable enough that you don't need to go around bragging about it.

Things to say to make a girl smile that are similar to this are grounds for setting up an "inside joke." Most of the time, the girl that you're saying these things to will laugh and joke back with you. If she does, you can build on what you said by saying "I would thumb wrestle you, but I can't risk you hurting my thumbs if you lose because I have a tournament coming up" or "If you want me to build you a cardboard box house, I can give you a huge discount if you order within the next 72 hours."

Playing off the sarcasm, if she asks for your name, you could respond by saying

"Bruce Wayne" or any other well-known fictional character. If that makes her smile, you can tell her "Yeah, I might look a little different on screen because they put a lot of make up on me, but I still got the money, and if you want to meet Alfred, he's picking me up in a few hours."

Again, before you go further with things to make a girl smile, it's important that you consider your audience and gauge her reaction. If she doesn't joke back with you or if she doesn't get it, you'll be digging yourself a hole that you can't climb out of and the best thing to do is to just drop the joke. Also, be sure that you don't take things too far and kill the joke. One or two sarcastic statements is enough. Later on if the conversation is going smoothly, you can revert back to the joke once in a while.

It all comes down to having fun and being original.

Some other things to say to make a girl smile involve role reversals. Put yourself in the shoes of a hot girl who gets hit on all the time. Think about what she would say to a guy who tries to make small talk with her. Keeping this in mind, if the girl you're having a conversation with asks you q uestions like "So, do you live around here?" you can respond by saying "Umm, wait before I answer that, you're not like some crazy stalker are you?"

This makes it seem like you're the prize and you're the one getting hit on which will take her by surprise but also make her chuckle a little bit. This will also help to build sexual attraction because it implies higher social position and social value.

Finally, the very best things to say to make a girl smile are always going to come naturally. Capitalizing on opportunities when they present themselves spontaneously is going to give you a much better chance at success than just using a canned line. The most important thing is to remember to have fun and make sure that she enjoys being with you.

3 Dumb Things Guys Say to Girls

It's really crazy to think about how many guys totally ruin their shot with a girl by saying the wrong thing. You've really got to be out of your head to say this stuff, because it will completely destroy and chance you might've had.

Lock this list into your memory so you can avoid tripping over these landmines and making it so she never wants to see you again. Once we're done with that, I'll share with you a secret method that will help you seduce any woman.

#1 Dumb Thing to Say: "You really just can't stop talking, can you?" We all know that girls love to gab forever, so just let them... as long as the conversation doesn't turn to her ex-boyfriend, of course. If you think about it, if a woman is chatting with you then she probably likes you enough to want to get naughty with you. If you want to get some, then now's the time to keep q uiet.

#2 Dumb Thing to Say: "You could stand to lose a few pounds, tubby!" If you're aiming to get shot down, then here's how you do it in one sentence. Girls thrive on feeling good about themselves, particularly when compared to other girls. Even if she isn't the sexiest girl in the room, let her think she is. Then again, why are you trying to score with a fat chick anyway?

#3 Dumb Thing to Say: "Let's make out. Right now." Supposing that she even does want to get intimate with you, announcing it like that can ruin the move. Have a proper sense of discretion. Once you get to the point where you are getting all touchy-feely, do your talking with your hands and not your mouth.

Now that you are aware of the dumb things NOT to say to a woman, then do you know what are the things that you SHOULD say to make a woman like you?

Here's what you should do. When you are engaged in a conversation with her, make her go through an "emotional thrill ride" so that she feels both happiness and sadness with you. This way, you will make her feel emotionally addicted to you, and in the process she will fall in love with you.

STOP DOING THE CHASING

If you’re constantly hitting on everything that moves — throwing out stale pickup lines and nervous chatter — then you’ll never master the skills needed to truly get women to chase you. And, by the way, know why they call it “hitting” on a woman? Because most of the time it’s just plain painful for her.

Therefore, the first step is to stop doing it, full stop. Only then can you stop following women around like a love-sick puppy — like every other guy is doing — and start building the mystery and tension that attracts them.

The Easiest Way to Attract Women - Stop Chasing Her If You Don't Want to Be Her Chihuahua

• Do you call her a lot pretending to be her friend, and listen to all her problems?

• Do you show up to all her events, just so you can talk to her?

• Do you buy her flowers, show her how nice and romantic you are, and secretly hoping she will leap into your arms with tears?

If your answers to these q uestions are "Yes", then your chasing her and you need to stop. This might have worked when you were in elementary school, but not anymore. Why? Because you can't persuade a girl into falling in love with you. If that works then all you need do is take some persuasion lessons.

Another thing is you can't buy your way in to her heart either, because that way Bill Gates would get every single girl in the world. And, yes I know there are gold diggers out there, but it's a small percentage.

Anyway, what you need to do is to learn how to attract women, how to spark a chemical reaction in women and every man can do it. First thing first though, STOP CHASING HER like her puppy dog.

I want to be real with you, there are no magic bullets out there, it takes time and practice to become that sexy man that every woman secretly wants. Women like certain personality types in a man, to be more specific they like certain behavior in a man.

What women really look for is a man who is confident just by being myself, and is happy with his life. So the easiest way to attract women is to start following in your passion, and dreams. That way you can really be yourself 100% by being honest with yourself.

How to Stop Chasing Women (And Get Them to Chase You Instead)

Guys, imagine this for a moment. Picture yourself having the superpowers to be able to attract ANY woman you lay your eyes on. Dude, this does not have to be a mere dream - it can be reality for you. Armed with the right tactics and tools in your seduction 'arsenal', women will come to you instead - you don't have to chase them! Read on to discover the surefire ways to get women to come after you, and achieve mind blowing results fast...

How to Stop Chasing Women (And Get Them To Chase You Instead)

Here's the only thing you need to know in order to compel any woman to pursue you. Women are 100% driven by emotions, and never by rational thinking. Now think about that point for a second.

If you come across as a cocky person to them, then they will (consciously) think that you are a jerk. However, the key to make them attracted to you is to appeal to them subconsciously (through their emotions). This is why they will NEVER be able to resist 'falling in love' with men that they consciously label as 'jerks'.

One great way to tap into their emotions is to use hypnosis techniques. One such hypnotic tool, called fractionation, has been used by expert seducers to get women to fall in love with them in very short time - in as little as 15 minutes!

This method involves making the 'target' go through an emotional rollercoaster - so that she feels both emotional highs and lows during the conversation. You will then associate yourself with her 'happy states', and in the process making her feel happy with your presence (and sad in your absence). As a result, she becomes emotionally dependent on you - and will be agreeing to whatever you say (or ask her to do!).

Fractionation is a very powerful techni q ue, and while superbly effective, it has been the source of controversy for the underground seduction community. Please use this knowledge responsibly.

But before you use this technique, you must heed this warning...Fractionation is considered as a 'dark art' tactic which is the basis of hypnosis-based seduction, and while controversial, it is known to be one of the most effective tactics ever invented by underground seductionists.

The Big Secret to Have Girls Chase You is to Stop Chasing Them! Read This Right Away

It is a fact that women have a lot more choices when it comes to dating in comparison to men. An average woman gets hit on by a guy every day and is very used to the amount of attention that she receives. It can also be safely assumed that women also feel that it is very natural to receive this attention. But when a guy does not chase a woman and does not let her have her way at all times that is when she begins to notice him. Here are a few ways to use this reverse psychology to get them to chase you.

Be the bad boy

You need to become the "bad boy". Women are drawn to men who they cannot control. Don't be too nice to her and don't behave as if you will spend the rest of your life waiting around for her. You have to give the impression that there are many fish in the sea and you have your options open.

Be a little selfish

When you learn to become a little more selfish than you really are, women automatically get drawn to you. Make the woman feel that you will do as you please and will not listen to what she or anyone else does. This will separate you from the rest of the men who waste all their time waiting upon women. They read this as a very masculine trait and will line up to be with the alpha male who doesn't give a damn about anyone else!

Don't call too often

Avoid calling her if you really like her. Give her a call only once in a while and wait for some time perhaps a couple of days before you call again. Meanwhile, let one or two of her messages go to the answering machine and don't call back immediately. This will make her crave for your active interest and will make her chase you.

Build some mystery

Don't be very open about yourself; don't rattle on about what you do and who all you meet etc. Tell her enough but leave some bit of information out. Make her work for the information that she wants. This will build up an intrigue in her and she will be hooked on to you for longer.

Don't look too interested

Be casual in your approach towards her. In a room full of people don't concentrate only on one woman. Circulate yourself and be open to meeting more people. The lesser interest you show, the more will she be interested in you.

Be the chooser

Get into the position of the chooser and not the choice. Make it known by your questioning that you are the one screening her and it is not the other way around. Once she realizes that you are the one in charge then she will begin to work for your approval.

Have an indifferent approach

Don't try to convince her about how you feel about her. Be a little indifferent towards her while being flirty and charming. Just make her feel that this is second nature and you are this comfortable with all women that you meet. Once she feels that you are not chasing her, she will begin the chase herself.

Trying Hard Will Only Push Your Ex Further! So Stop Chasing & Follow These Tips

Unbelievably, you can make your ex-girlfriend chase you; even she is the one who decided to break up with you. So, stop insulting yourself by chasing after her. Here are some great tips that you can do to make her come back to you instead.

After a break-up you think things could not be worse. You feel devastated by the split up. You feel so betrayed and so alone. You ask yourself countless times what happened. You could have seen the end of the relationship coming but you didn't. Everything happened so q uickly you did not have the time to brace yourself. You desperately want your ex back.

However, you notice that the more you try to patch up things the more your ex seems to get away from you. There must be something that you can do to right things between you and your ex.

You need to stop chasing her first

To make your ex-girlfriend chase you, you need to stop chasing her first. I understand that when you love her, you really want to be close to her. So, you may try to call her and follow her around wherever she goes.

If you are doing this, you need to stop it immediately and disappear from her life for at least two weeks or more. Well, she might feel good at first, but later, she will slowly start to wonder where you are going.

You need to be strong and confident

This is very important if you want to make your ex-girlfriend chase you. Don't just sit in the dark, doing nothing but waiting for her to come back. You are wasting your time and it will not help you at all. Just try to be strong and confident again. You may go to the gym and get some exercises to put on some muscles. You may buy yourself some new clothes and new shoes, along with getting yourself a new haircut.

This way, your ex might be surprised by your new look and she might try to reconsider about the break up situation again.

You need to accept the break up and move on with your life

To make your ex-girlfriend chase you, you have to let her go first. You should not try to change her mind. Just accept the break up. Accept the truth that the relationship between you and her is now over. Then, you should try to move on with your life. In addition, this is not what she is expecting you to do at all. She may not like this because she is afraid that you might decide to move on your life without her.

Try not to be alone

While you are trying to make your ex-girlfriend chase you, it is recommended that you should not be alone. You may go back to work or go out with your friends. Therefore, you can get over the pain from the break up. Besides, she might get jealous when she sees that you can get back on your feet.

You may be around but just try to ignore her

This is one of the effective tips to make your ex-girlfriend chase you. You may go to the places where she might be there, but you should try not to talk to her. However, it doesn't mean that you should follow her and try this trick. Don't do that.

You may remind her of the past, but you just do it from a distance

To make your ex-girlfriend chase you, it is recommended that you should try to remind her as to why she used to fall in love with you before, but you need to do it from a distance. You should let her see you in the look that attracted her. This way, you can remind her of the love from the past, which might be able to make her want you more.

Stop all communications now!

Stop pestering your ex with phone calls, text messages, e-mails and tweets. Your ex broke off with you because he/she wants time off from you. If you keep calling your ex every single hour, you are just making it easier for him/her to really get irritated with you maybe to the point of crossing you out of his/her life permanently.

Say you are sorry.

You don't have to call your ex to say you are sorry. Send him/her a note, just once. Express your apology in a no nonsense way. Just say it straight without much mushy words. End your note wishing your ex good luck.

Go out with your friends and have fun.

There's no use moping about the house feeling like a regular loser. There is the whole world out there ready to be discovered! You are young and attractive in your own way. Go out and paint the town red. Your ex might see how happy you are that he/she might actually have second thoughts about you.

Take care of yourself. Now is the time to take a closer look at yourself. Have you let yourself go in terms of looks and self-esteem? Work on a "better and improved" you. You should bear in mind that you are doing this for yourself and not for your ex.

Take it slow and easy. If you accidentally bumped into your ex, try to gauge his/her reaction towards you. Is your genuinely happy to see you? Is your ex quite annoyed that he/she bumped into you? Is your ex with a group of friends or with a date? Take it from there. Your next move is dependent on the answers to the q uestions. If circumstances show that you and your ex have possibilities, don't rush.

PLAY HARD TO GET TOO

The Art of Playing Hard To Get With Women

"Playing Hard to Get" as part of the dating game is often a debatable strategy.

While some dating gurus claim this strategy helps us in attracting the opposite sex (women), others believe that it only endangers your dating success, and makes us behave in an unnatural way.

In this part of this book, I would like to present a unique view about playing hard to get, and to show several ideas on doing it right. Is Being Unavailable Attractive? Many qualities are considered as attractive to women. In general, women are looking for a high status man. Being a high status man helps you get phone numbers, to get a girl to date you, and it also helps you in getting women into bed with you.

A good way to convey high status is by showing women that you are a busy person. Being a busy person means that you meet various people, you have all kinds of things to do during your day, you aren't very available, you can't answer her phone every time she calls, and you can't always meet her.

Some men believe that being extremely available is the best strategy, because this gives you the highest chances to get the girl. But this is wrong - in fact, if you don't answer her calls, and if you can only meet her in certain days and hours - it gives you higher chances to get her.

Why? Because that kind of behavior attracts women.

Psychology of Attraction

I've recently read several studies in the psychology of attraction. One of them gathered a large group of women, and showed them photos of various men. In addition to the photos, the women were told what those men thought about them (the women).

What the study showed was amazing. First, when a guy showed interest in a woman, she found him more attractive. So showing no interest at all seems to be a bad strategy.

However, the study also showed that women were mostly attracted to men who showed both interest and disinterest in the same time.

The conclusion of the study was that women are attracted those men, that they aren't sure about their intentions. A woman will prefer a guy who shows some interest, but in the same time also shows disinterest.

This is a scientific approval of playing hard to get with women. if you ever asked how to get women into bed - start with being less available.

Examples of Playing Hard To Get

How can you increase your attractiveness by playing hard to get? Here are several good examples:

- Not answering her calls - If you're a busy person, you can't answer every phone call your get. Sometimes - you just miss some calls. So if she calls you? Answer sometimes, and sometimes - don't.

- Being late - Again, a busy man can be late sometimes. You have various meetings, you have work, sometimes things can be urgent - and you can be late. Never show you were late on purpose, even apologize. But show her that she's not your highest priority.

- "Be Yourself" - most men behave in a different way when they're around women. they choose the best words, they can't tell good jokes, they are afraid to "hurt" her feelings, etc. Women can sense it, and they feel you're making big efforts - this is not attractive. Instead, be yourself. Say whatever is on your mind, you can laugh at her, and you can even use negative emotions.

Never Show Here You're Playing

I don't know what about you, but at least as an average man, I hate when women "play games" with me.

When a girl doesn't answer my calls on purpose, it pisses me off.

Unless you are dating a girl with low self-esteem, their reaction will be the same.

However, what if you know that you're dating a person who really has many activities and lives on a very busy schedule?

Well, in such case it might be different, right? Actually, if a girl knows that you are only making it as if you are busy, it has the opposite effect - it shows that you're very interested, and you're making efforts to look busy. The best way to be busy is to really be busy. But if you are currently not very socially active and you don't have many business issues - at least make sure you make it look genuine.

Make Women Chase You - Ways on How to Play Hard to Get

The whole idea of playing hard to get is to exhibit your value and worth to others and you can't do that by being too available or wanting to please everybody all at once. You express your significance by crafting a sense of restrictedness or letting it be known that you are a private person, thus, escalating your aura of mystery. Now, how can you play hard to get?

The psychology of playing hard to get is the common goal of every living man: we always want what we find hard to attain. All of us have a distinctively modified set of things that physically draw or resist us sexually. How do you form out what draws or resists a particular person? It's easy: Ask a lot of q uestions! Ask q uestions with the purpose of discovering what makes her tick. What are her likes and dislikes? After this, you can now d things that will make her sense that you really and fully appreciate her as a unique character.

That's a tactic to hit her soft spot --- and then will start chasing you. Girls like to be reassured and showered with attention. They want to know with some degree of conviction that you are worth the chase. There's nothing that is a bigger turnoff for both men and women than someone who is too predictable, not much of a challenge, too stiff or controlling, anxious or too eager to please, fatally pessimistic and an absolute bore.

The person must feel that you're worth her time and energy and what she is after is not something she can simply get on the street corner but rather something obtainable to only a fortunate few. Everybody wants to feel that you're important, even precious and only those who deserve it will earn you as a reward.

Learn How to Attract Women by Playing Hard to Get

Women will be all over you if you play hard to get

Can playing hard to get actually land you more hot dates? I have used this particular technique for years and it never fails. Women tend to reach high for the forbidden fruit rather than easily picking them from the lower branches. Women like the guy who seems just out of her reach. If you're playing hard to get, her interest is only growing by the second.

Have you ever wondered why women want to talk to you more when you are not single (when you have a hot girl on your arm)? I don't know about you, but when I'm involved in a relationship with someone, women seem to be more interested in me for some reason. I say to myself, "Where were they when I was single?"

Knowing this, I think women like to go after men they consider challenges. They don't necessarily like the guy desperately pursuing them all the time--even though they love the attention. They rather get attention from the guy who is uni q ue and rare. They want the guy who seems harder to get... a good catch or a "keeper."

Formulating a plan

The keys that will make playing hard to get a huge success for you is patience and confidence. You must be patient and confident that your plan is going to work. Similar to a game of chess you have to think two or three moves ahead. So lets see how we can make women chase you.

Before we go any further, however, I advise you to only use this method (playing hard to get) for women you want a relationship with. Make sure the girl you are doing this for is well worth it. Obviously this method is not worth it if all you are interested in is a one-night stand.

Make her chase you

Your first objective is to make yourself as desirable as possible. So the q uestion is, what do women look for in a man? What causes a woman to chase a man? Below are several things that I believe women look for in a man when she first lays eyes on him.

Women love guys with style. They love a man who can dress well. So that should be your first objective: to dress the best way possible. It doesn't have to be the most expensive clothing in the world, but you should definitely look good in your clothes--your shoes especially. Your hair should be somewhat in place and your beard should be groomed. You don't have to be a pretty boy, but you must present yourself well. The first impression is very important. Part of being a challenge is to get her to notice you initially.

The next thing to remember is to always be extremely confident in yourself. Show confidence in the way you walk. Not only will she notice how nicely you are dressed, she will see great confidence through your walk.

You should also believe in your ability to hold a great conversation. Engaging in a friendly conversation will instantly stimulate her mind. When you know how to talk to a woman properly she will want to be around you all day just to hear what you have got to say. You must remember that you are playing hard to get. Do not directly ask her out when conversing with her. Just make nice conversation and flirt a little while you're at it.

Another thing you should keep in mind is to make sure you smell great, just incase a hug is given when you greet or when you say your goodbyes. Once she smells you, she will remember you for the rest of the day/night. Just incase you didn't know; smell is the strongest sense tied to memory.

So remember guys, dress well, be patient, be confident, and smell great.

Make her call you

The best way to see if a girl is interested in you is to give her your number after some friendly interaction. Casually say to her, "It was nice talking to you, Candice. Unfortunately, I have to go. Here's my number. If you are not too busy, maybe you can give me a call sometime."

Now you have got her thinking...

She is not q uite sure if you like her because you did not directly asked her out, nor did you ask for her number; you were the one giving your number to her. Since she is so used to guys desperately begging for her number, you have put her in uncharted waters.

She will keep your number if she truly does like you and give you a call in the near future. Once you do get the phone call--and I know you will--you know that she is interested in you on some level... why else would she call you, right?

One thing to keep in mind is if the girl has not been on a date in a while, she will call you sooner rather than later. Otherwise, she will wait at least several days before calling.

So you may be asking yourself, "why would I give her my number? Why not take hers?" Well, when you play hard to get, you have to make her think a little. If you ask for her number and say that you want to go out with her in the future, she already knows that you like her and there is no challenge (she can have you anytime she chooses). While there is nothing wrong with this, the point of this article is to make women chase you. Leave her in suspense. Make her wonder if you like her or you are just willing to be friends.

Most girls will call you just to see if you actually like them (and that you don't want to be "just friends"). Girls just hate the idea of a guy being uninterested in them sexually. You have to make her think that she is losing a step. Women at times have very big egos and they will do anything to prove they can have any guy they want. So when they think that you are unattainable, that is when they want you even more.

Now even when she calls, you can't get too happy, you must still "pretend" to be a casual friend, while throwing in light flirtation remarks to keep her blushing. If she implies hanging out together, you should agree--but whatever you do, don't call it a date. Just say, "Ok, lets hang out and have fun. I think we will have a great time."

From this moment on, the ball is in your court. Not only has she called you, but she has also implied a date. That means she is into you.

Don't overdo it

Now the key is not to overdo "playing hard to get." When you hang out, for example, don't keep playing hard to get... you have done that part successfully already. That is why she called you in the first place, and that is why she is " just hanging out" with you. She needs to feel rewarded at some point or she will think you really don't like her. You have stimulated her mind, now stimulate her body.

Make her do the talking

When she talks, just listen carefully--just in case she asks you about it later. Show interest in what she is saying--even it is frivolous non-sense. Repeat anything that gets her emotional and that seems important to her. When you show that you care, she will appreciate your company that much more.

Guys, it's OK to talk as well. We want to beat them at their own game right? So when you get a chance, tell her some things about you and see if she pays attention. If she does, and she is gazing into your eyes, then guess what? She is all yours. Your job is done. It is not even "a real date" but you stimulated her mind and she loves being around you.

Wrapping things up

If you are patient enough, playing hard to get will allow you to date any woman you desire. This is because women like the mysterious guy... the one who is laid back, but not boring at all. Girls gravitate towards the rare, "too good to be true" confident and seemingly indestructible man; the one who seems like a catch. And that, my friend, is you.

How to Play Hard To Get - Do This So She Will Fall in Love with You

Ever been told that playing hard to get is how you make her fall for you? The secret is that you never being too available. Often when men and women go out of their way to be clingy, needy and eager to please it will backfire. People are told that people want a chase and that you should make yourself unavailable. They hope this creates intrigue and demonstrates value in his or her eyes. This makes you hard to get, and is the secret tip to make her fall in love with you. But you do not want to be too aloof because this will backfire when the love interest moves on to someone else and gives up the chase. So you don't want to be impossible to get, just play hard to get. In order to do this, you want to focus on creating a sense of exclusiveness for yourself. So how do you do this to make her fall in love with you?

Here are a few steps to make yourself feel "exclusive."

First, you need to internalize that you are the prize that a woman wants. When you are the prize, the girl will chase you. You want the girl to see you as a man that she wants to be with and has to fight to win over. When you walk around believing that you are the prize, your actions will come off as aligning with this belief. Women will find it extremely attractive, and realize that you are not like any other guy. This belief is very important if you want to know how to get her chasing you.

Another key element you want to bring is the ability to make someone feel special without seeming to needy or eager to please. This shows that you are happy and comfortable on your own. The first thing you want to focus on is becoming a person that is worthy of being chased. When you find your own interests and passions, you start having more exciting things to talk about and you naturally find yourself stop being too available. The second part of this is that men and women often do things that seriously turn off a woman. For example, they may be too predictable and not much of a challenge. They may act boring or extremely desperate and eager to please. When some people want to assert themselves, they may even start acting too rigid or controlling. The problem with this is that they are not being the right type of challenge. When a guy bends over backwards to show a girl affection, they turn her off by being too eager to please. When a guy is too rigid, he is being manipulative. When he is negative or boring, he is not creating the emotion to get her chasing you. It doesn't make the person feel special, but rather smothered. However, when you realize your own value and choose times to make someone feel special, they will feel that you are special and she will fall in love with you.

Next you need to make her feel very strong good emotions towards you. When you make her happy, she will associate those feelings with you. The woman will realize that she feels happiest when she is around you. She will remember that when she thinks of seeing you again. But if you never create any emotion, then making yourself unavailable just makes her forget about you, but if you hit create a strong emotion when you see her, you will have her chasing you. Build a connection with her by sharing stories, listening to her ambitions, and teasing her. Make her feel happy, flirtatious, even bit challenged. Put her through an emotional roller coaster of positive feelings and she will be very attracted to you. This is a seduction tip that you must always keep in mind. She may forget a generic face, but she will not forget someone who lit up her passions and touched her emotionally.

Overall, combining these elements of emotion and surprise with being hard to get is what makes our dates, lovers and spouses feel like they are flirting (literally) with the unpredictable. In addition, once you know how to have a girl chase you, you will find that you are giving them the most intense and enlivening experience that they have ever known. Follow these seduction techniques so you play hard to get and get the girl of your dreams to fall in love with you!

Turning the Tables - Playing Hard to Get and Making Her Think She May Lose You

Playing hard to get, it is typically a thing that girls do. Making you think that you are not good enough for her, and that she is interested in so much more than you. She plays it cool while you are sweating bullets. A good tactic is to reverse this on her. You have to be cool and confident to pull it off and willing let her go if things do not work out properly. But if you do it right, she will never see it coming, women do not expect a guy to play hard to get with them. We have actually built up somewhat of immunity-they are defenseless.

The first step is to make her want you-Project high status

This should be obvious, if you cannot get her to desire you to some degree then none of these tactics will work and you will have go back and work on rules of attraction to get her to desire you. Once you have her desiring you, you need to ignore her some. Do not completely abandon her, but also flirt with other girls, perhaps even seem like you like some of them more. Try to keep up some physical contact with her to keep her heart racing, but if she initiates anything, pull back just a little bit.

As her interest keeps building, you need to make her think that she may lose you

I like to think of this as a catfight mode. This is where you get into dangerous territory and things can go pear shaped fast. You need to pick up the flirting with a second girl, hopefully getting her interest a little bit too. The important thing is that the first girl thinks the second is interested. This will make her spitting mad at the second girl, not you. (honestly, it should be at you... but rarely is) Once she is good and catty you have her where you want her, go back to normal seduction routines to calm her down and make her want you. If you have done all these steps successfully, you will have a girl that will think she may lose you and this will make her want you even more. Girls (like guys) value things highly if they know they have to work to get them.

When using this "playing hard to get" method make sure you are good at flirting and attraction techni q ues.

ALWAYS ASK THE RIGHT QUESTIONS

A Guy Gets Girls by asking the Right Questions

A guy gets girls using two kinds of communication, verbal and non-verbal. Nonverbal communication is very important to convey ideas and attitudes. An erect posture signifies confidence. Direct eye contact shows interest. A smile means friendliness and affability. But as important as these are, you probably won't get very far with a girl if you just stand erect, smile and look into her eyes. Sooner or later you're going to have to say something.

Asking q uestions is a great way to begin a conversation and to keep it going when there comes a lull. Asking q uestions shows the girl you're interested in her and what she has to say. That's what woman are looking for, someone who is interested in them and who will listen to whatever is on their mind. But there is an art to asking q uestions and being a good listener.

Let's look at the three mistakes you might be making with the q uestions you ask to make conversation.

1) Asking too many q uestions- While q uestions show interest in a girl, a guy gets girls by engaging in two-way conversation. When every sentence out of your mouth is a question, you begin to sound more like an interrogator giving someone the third degree. This is especially true when all of your q uestions can be answered with a simple yes or no.

2) Doing all of the talking—Sometimes a guy will ask a q uestion and get a short, simple answer. Out of nervousness or perhaps a lack of social experience he'll fear even a short amount of silence and just start talking away. They will talk endlessly just to try to hold the girl's attention and keep her from walking away.

3) He bores her to tears—Suppose a guy meets a girl who is really attractive and he wants to make sure he doesn't mess it up. He might try to avoid any subject that could cause a possible controversy. While this in itself isn't a bad idea, he carries it to the extreme and talks only about the weather or sports or other things he considers "safe" topics. Unfortunately, they are all boring to her and she wanders off to find someone more interesting.

Okay, there are three problems, let's consider each in turn.

1) Ask progressive q uestions- These are questions that need more than just a yes or no answer and that follow naturally one after another. Try something like "Where did you go on your last vacation?" Answer. "What did you like about it?" Answer. "Where would you like to go next." Answer. "Why?" Why is always a good q uestion because it gets someone thinking. Just don't overdo it or you'll sound like a five year old.

2) Don't worry about brief pauses in a conversationTake a breath, take a sip of your drink or eat a cracker. A guy gets girls when he is confident and a confident guy doesn't let natural and harmless pauses in a conversation rattle him.

3) Don't be afraid to talk about interesting topics- Look for something she is interested and ask q uestions, but in the give and take of the conversation tell her about some of your interesting experiences and good times. Make it positive and interesting. Engage her positive emotions. That's how rapport is built and chemistry is created.

Master these concepts and you'll become the king of conversation. A guy gets girls when he can establish rapport and chemistry with a woman.

How to Ask the Right Questions First

You have been contacting each other over the internet and now it is time to meet up, before you do so, ensure you prepare yourself and have a list of the right q uestions for the occasion because the right questions will determine if the relationship will continue or not. What are these questions you need to ask and how do you know what the right questions are? The aim of these q uestions is to reveal more about the other party and to provide you with the basis of deciding whether he or she is the one.

These questions are hard to get and the first time you start online dating you are likely to get it all wrong. Do not be frustrated though; treat each contact as a learning experience. If you get it right the first time then you are lucky. Not many people do it the first time. Do not expect to get specific answers to the questions asked; remember that you are dealing with a human being, with flaws and with different characters. Give room for imperfections, if you pursue perfection, then you will forever be frustrated, because no human being is perfect.

Give each other time to talk. This is vital. You are both learning each other and the talking will go a long way in helping you decide if this is Mr. Right or not. Don't ask q uestions that are direct like "are you a sex maniac?" this will put off the other party and probably he or she will lose interest immediately. You will determine all these by use of the right questions. Listening as a virtual here will prove priceless. Then your judgment of character will come to play. I believe you might need to see a psychologist to give you a few tips before you can handle the first meeting.

Make your first time q uestions fun as much as you can. Dating is fun. Do not get all business from the start. Crack a few light jokes to ease up the tension as you get to introduce each other until you feel you know each other well enough to get into the serious q uestions like, "what caused your break up with your former partner?" if you do not realize this by now, this is a million dollar question. If he or she gives you the crap that she does not want to talk about it, its time you moved on.

The unwillingness to talk about the previous relationship will show that he or she has not gotten over the relationship and so that person is not ready to move on. If you like her already, I believe you should give her more time until she feels ready to talk about him, but if you don't, you have the reason to move on to the next prospect. He or she might be on a rebound mission to try and forget the previous partner. Watch out for these characters, they might never get over the relationships.

If he or she lays the whole blame on the other party, then be keen, this might not be the person for you. For a relationship to end, each person contributes no matter how. So if he or she tries to lay the whole blame on the other and absolve her of the blame, then she isn't the one. Move on to other prospects. Do not get in too far in the relationship before asking these questions, it might be too late for you to turn back. Be q uick and witty, the other party expects q uestions and he or she might have readymade answers for you.

Best Questions to Ask a Girl - Learn How to Ask a Girl Questions She Will Answer

Going on dates with girls is one of the most exciting times of life. It's also one of the most unnerving times too, and many guys get very nervous and apprehensive at the very thought of it. Knowing what q uestions to ask a girl is a very tricky subject, so here are a few tips that should make it easier for you and will help you in trying to get off on the right foot.

One thing to remember is that the girl you approach may very well be just a nervous as you, so it is important to try and put her at ease as fast as possible.

You can easily tell if a girl is hoping to meet someone simply by watching her for a few moments. One thing though, do it carefully. If she catches you staring, it could easily unnerve her. If your "covert" surveillance reveals that she is alone, (at least without male company), and that she keeps casting en q uiring looks around the room, she is almost certainly hoping to be approached. Now, if you can also "accidentally" lock eyes with her, smile and get a return smile...you're in luck.

By asking the right q uestions from the outset, you can discover a lot about her personality, and her likes and dislikes, and it also gives her the opportunity to respond and gain information about you at the same time.

Questions to ask a girl at first is whether she is local and where she works, what she does for a living. A nice easy opener this one, and an easy opportunity for her to talk confidently back to you. Remember to offer similar information back about yourself, and in the case that she doesn't actually ask you too, volunteer the information anyway.

Asking about favorites is another cool thing to do. Favorite actors, films, books, singers, bands etc. The reason it is cool is that again it allows her to talk back to you confidently and if you respond with similar information, you are both building a picture up of each other, building rapport with one another and will soon know if the relationship is one which you would both like to develop. The best way to get someone into is to have commonalities with them, or at least pretend to.
